Osaka Steakhouse & Sushi, Inc. d/b/a SHU Chinese Restaurant, Chun Chen, “Jane” (first name unknown)
Chen, “John” (first name unknown) Chen #1 and “John”
(first name unknown) Chen #2.

Defendants.

Case No. 1:18-CV-0577 (DNH/DJS)

COLLECTIVE & CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

Plaintiffs Jian Zhang and En Rong Zhang (collectively “Plaintiffs”), on their own behalf and on behalf of all others similarly situated, by and through their undersigned attorneys, Hang & Associates, PLLC, hereby file this complaint against the Defendants Osaka Steakhouse & Sushi, Inc. d/b/a SHU Chinese Restaurant, Chun Chen, “Jane” (first name unknown) Chen, “John” (first name unknown) Chen #1, “John” (first name unknown) Chen #2. (collectively “Defendants”), allege and show the Court the following:

INTRODUCTION

1. This is an action brought by Plaintiffs on their own behalf and on behalf of similarly situated employees, alleging violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 201 et seq. (“FLSA”) and the New York Labor Law, arising from Defendants’ various willful and unlawful employment policies, patterns and/or practices.

2. Upon information and belief, Defendants have willfully and intentionally committed widespread violations of the FLSA and NYLL by engaging in a pattern and practice of failing to pay their employees, including Plaintiffs, overtime compensation for all hours worked over forty (40) each workweek.

3. Plaintiffs allege pursuant to the FLSA, that they are entitled to recover from the Defendants: (1) unpaid minimum wages (2) overtime wages, (3) liquidated damages, (4) prejudgment and post-judgment interest, and (5) attorneys' fees and costs.

4. Plaintiffs further allege pursuant to New York Labor Law § 650 et seq. and 12 New York Codes, Rules and Regulations §§ 146 ("NYCRR") that they are entitled to recover from the Defendants: (1) unpaid minimum wages (2) unpaid overtime compensation, (3) unpaid "spread of hours" premium for each day they worked ten (10) or more hours, (4) compensation for failure to provide wage notice at the time of hiring in violation of the NYLL, (5) liquidated damages, (6) prejudgment and post-judgment interest, and (7) attorney's fees and costs.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5. This Court has original federal question jurisdiction over this controversy under 29 U.S.C. § 216(b), 28 U.S.C. § 1331, and has supplemental jurisdiction over the New York Labor Law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a).

6. Venue is proper in the Northern District of New York pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b) and (c), because Defendants conduct business in this District, and the acts and omissions giving rise to the claims herein alleged took place in this District.

18. At all times relevant herein, SHU Chinese Restaurant was, and continues to be, an “enterprise engaged in commerce” within the meaning of FLSA.

19. At all relevant times, the work performed by Plaintiffs was directly essential to the business operated by SHU Chinese Restaurant.

20. At all relevant times, Defendants knowingly and willfully failed to pay Plaintiff their lawfully earned minimum wages, overtime compensation, and spread-of-hour premiums, and failed to provide them a wage notice at the time of hiring in violation of the NYLL.

21. Plaintiffs have fulfilled all conditions precedent to the institution of this action and/or conditions have been waived.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

22. Defendants committed the following alleged acts knowingly, intentionally and willfully.

23. Defendants knew that the nonpayment of minimum wages, overtime pay, spread of hours pay, and their failure to provide the required wage notice at the time of hiring would financially injure Plaintiffs and similarly situated employees and violate state and federal laws.

24. From mid-April 2017 to January 31, 2018 Plaintiff Jian Zhang was hired by Defendants to work as a cook for Defendants' restaurant located at 2050 Western Ave., Guilderland, NY 12084.

25. Defendants did not compensate Plaintiff Jian Zhang for his overtime hours worked over forty (40) each workweek according to state and federal laws.

26. Throughout the entire period of time when Plaintiff Jian Zhang was employed by the Defendants, Plaintiff Jian Zhang worked from 11am to 10pm daily for six days per week. Plaintiff Jian Zhang had one day off per week. Plaintiff worked at least 66 hours a week.

27. Plaintiff Jian Zhang was paid a flat rate of $4800 per month for the first two months of his employment, then raised to $5000 per month until the end of his employment.

28. Plaintiff Jian Zhang was paid bi-weekly. Defendant "Jane" Chen (first name unknown) a/k/a "Female Boss" determined work schedule and paid the Plaintiff in cash.

29. From mid-April 2017 to January 31, 2018 Plaintiff En Rong Zhang was hired by Defendants to work as a cook for Defendants' restaurant located at 2050 Western Ave., Guilderland, NY 12084.

30. Defendants did not compensate Plaintiff Chen minimum wage or overtime hours worked over forty (40) each workweek according to state and federal laws.

31. Throughout the entire period of his employment, Plaintiff En Rong Zhang worked from 11am to 10pm daily for six days per week. Plaintiff En Rong Zhang had one day off per week. Plaintiff worked at least 66 hours a week.

32. Plaintiff En Rong Zhang was paid a flat rate of $2600 per month for the first two months of his employment. Plaintiff then received $2800 per month on July 17, 2017 until December 31, 2017, and then $3000 per month from January 1, 2018 until January 31, 2018.

33. Plaintiff En Rong Zhang was paid bi-weekly. Defendant “Jane” (first name unknown) Chen a/k/a “Female Boss” determined work schedule and paid the Plaintiff in cash.

34. Defendants did not maintain accurate, contemporaneous records of the Plaintiffs’ wages or hours worked. For instance, the Defendants paid the Plaintiffs in cash.

35. Plaintiffs were not compensated for New York’s “spread of hours” premium for shifts that lasted longer than ten (10) hours, six days each week.

36. Defendants did not compensate Plaintiffs for any overtime hours worked over forty (40) each workweek according to state and federal laws.

37. Defendants did not provide Plaintiffs with a wage notice at the time of hiring.

38. Defendants did not provide Plaintiffs with any wage statement.

39. Defendants committed the following alleged acts knowingly, intentionally and willfully.

40. Defendants knew that the nonpayment of overtime and the “spread of hours” premium would economically injure Plaintiffs and the Class Members by their violation of federal and state laws.

41. While employed by Defendants, Plaintiffs were not exempt under federal and state laws requiring employers to pay employees overtime.

42. Plaintiffs and the New York Class Members’ workdays always lasted longer than 10 hours.

43. Defendants did not pay Plaintiffs and other Class members’ New York’s “spread of hours” premium for every day in which they worked over 10 hours.

44. Defendants did not provide Plaintiffs and other Class members with written notices about the terms and conditions of their employment upon hire in relation to their rate of pay, regular pay cycle and rate of overtime pay. These notices were similarly not provided upon Plaintiffs' and other Class members' pay increase(s).

45. Defendants did not post the required New York State Department of Labor posters regarding minimum wage pay rates, overtime pay, tip credit and pay day.

46. Defendants committed the foregoing acts against the Plaintiffs, the FLSA Collective Plaintiffs, and the Class.

COLLECTIVE ACTION ALLEGATIONS

47. Defendants knowingly and willfully operated their business with a policy of not paying Plaintiffs and other similarly situated employees either the FLSA overtime rate (of time and one-half) in violation of the FLSA and the supporting federal and New York State Department of Labor Regulations.

48. Plaintiffs bring this action individually and on behalf of all other and former non-exempt employees who have been or were employed by the Defendants for up to the last three (3) years, through entry of judgment in this case (the "Collective Action Period") and whom failed to receive overtime compensation for all hours worked in excess of forty (40) hours per week (the "Collective Action Members"), and have been subject to the same common decision, policy, and plan to not provide required wage notices at the time of hiring, in contravention to federal and state labor laws.

49. Upon information and belief, the Collective Action Members are so numerous the joinder of all members is impracticable. The identity and precise number of such persons are unknown, and the facts upon which the calculations of that number may be ascertained are presently within the sole control of the Defendants. Upon information and belief, there are more than thirty (30) Collective Action members, who have worked for or have continued to work for the Defendants during the Collective Action Period, most of whom would not likely file individual suits because they fear retaliation, lack adequate financial resources, access to attorneys, or knowledge of their claims. Therefore, Plaintiff submits that this case should be certified as a collection action under the FLSA, 29 U.S.C. §216(b).

50. Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Collective Action Members, and has retained counsel that is experienced and competent in the field of employment law and class action litigation. Plaintiffs have no interests that are contrary to or in conflict with those members of this collective action.

51. This action should be certified as collective action because the prosecution of separate action by individual members of the collective action would risk creating either inconsistent or varying adjudication with respect to individual members of this class that would as a practical matter be dispositive of the interest of the other members not party to the adjudication, or subsequently impair or impede their ability to protect their interests.

52. A collective action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy, since joinder of all members is impracticable. Furthermore, inasmuch as the damages suffered by individual Collective Action Members may be relatively small, the expense and burden of individual litigation makes it virtually impossible for the members of the collective action to individually seek redress for the wrongs done to them. There will be no difficulty in the management of this action as collective action.

53. Questions of law and fact common to members of the collective action predominate over questions that may affect only individual members because Defendants have acted on grounds generally applicable to all members. Among the questions of fact common to Plaintiffs and other Collective Action Members are:

- a. Whether the Defendants employed Collective Action members within the meaning of the FLSA;
- b. Whether the Defendants failed to pay the Collective Action Members the minimum wage in violation of the FLSA and the regulations promulgated thereunder;
- c. Whether the Defendants failed to pay the Collective Action Members overtime wages for all hours worked above forty (40) each workweek in violation of the FLSA and the regulation promulgated thereunder;
- d. Whether the Defendants' violations of the FLSA are willful as that term is used within the context of the FLSA; and,
- e. Whether the Defendants are liable for all damages claimed hereunder, including but not limited to compensatory, punitive, and statutory damages, interest, costs and disbursements and attorneys' fees.

54. Plaintiffs know of no difficulty that will be encountered in the management of this litigation that would preclude its maintenance as a collective action.

55. Plaintiffs and others similarly situated have been substantially damaged by Defendants' unlawful conduct.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

56. Plaintiffs bring their NYLL claims pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure ("F. R. C. P.") Rule 23, on behalf of all non-exempt persons employed by Defendants at SHU Chinese Restaurant on or after the date that is six years before the filing of the Complaint in this case as defined herein (the "Class Period").

57. All said persons, including Plaintiffs, are referred to herein as the "Class." The Class members are readily ascertainable. The number and identity of the Class members are determinable from the records of Defendants. The hours assigned and worked, the positions held, and the rate of pay for each Class Member is also determinable from Defendants' records. For purpose of notice and other purposes related to this action, their names and addresses are readily available from Defendants. Notice can be provided by means permissible under said F.R.C.P 23.

58. The proposed Class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable, and the disposition of their claims as a class will benefit the parties and the Court. Although the precise number of such persons is unknown, and the facts on which the calculation of the number is presently within the sole control of the Defendants, upon information and belief, there are more than thirty (30) members of the class.

59. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of those claims which could be alleged by any member of the Class, and the relief sought is typical of the relief that would be sought by each member of the Class in separate actions. All the Class members were subject to the same corporate practices of Defendants, as alleged herein, of failing to pay overtime wages. Defendants' corporation wide policies and practices, including but not limited to their failure to provide a wage notice at the time of hiring, affected all Class members similarly, and Defendants benefited from the same type of unfair and/ or wrongful acts as to each Class member. Plaintiffs and other Class members sustained similar losses, injuries and damages arising from the same unlawful policies, practices and procedures.

60. Plaintiffs are able to fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Class and have no interests antagonistic to the Class. Plaintiffs are represented by attorneys who are experienced and competent in representing plaintiffs in both class action and wage and hour employment litigation cases.

61. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy, particularly in the context of wage and hour litigation where individual Class members lack the financial resources to vigorously prosecute corporate defendants. Class action treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently, and without the unnecessary duplication of efforts and expenses that numerous individual actions engender. The losses, injuries, and damages suffered by each of the individual Class members are small in the sense pertinent to a class action analysis, thus the expenses and burden of individual litigation would make it extremely difficult or impossible for the individual Class members to redress the wrongs done to them. Further, important public interests will be served by addressing the matter as a class action. The adjudication of individual litigation claims would result in a great expenditure of Court and public resources; however, treating the claims as a class action would result in a significant saving of these costs. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Class would create a risk of inconsistent and/or varying adjudications with respect to the individual members of the Class, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants and resulting in the impairment of class members' rights and the disposition of their interests through actions to which they were not parties. The issues in this action can be decided by means of common, class-wide proof. In addition, if appropriate, the Court can, and is empowered to, fashion methods to efficiently manage this action as a class action.

62. Upon information and belief, defendants and other employers throughout the state violate the New York Labor Law. Current employees are often afraid to assert their rights out of fear of direct or indirect retaliation. Former employees are fearful of bringing claims because doing so can harm their employment, future employment, and future efforts to secure employment. Class actions provide class members who are not named in the complaint a degree of anonymity which allows for the vindication of their rights while eliminating or reducing these risks.

63. There are questions of law and fact common to the Class which predominate over any questions affecting only individual class members, including:

- a. Whether Defendants employed Plaintiffs and the Class within the meaning of the New York law;
- b. Whether Defendants paid Plaintiffs and Class members the New York minimum wage for all hours worked
- c. Whether Plaintiffs and Class members are entitled to overtime under the New York Labor Law;
- d. Whether Defendants maintained a policy, pattern and/or practice of failing to pay Plaintiff and the Rule 23 Class spread-of-hours pay as required by the NYLL;
- e. Whether the Defendants provided wage notices at the time of hiring to Plaintiff and class members as required by the NYLL;
- f. At what common rate, or rates subject to common method of calculation were and are the Defendants required to pay the Class members for their work.

STATEMENT OF CLAIM

COUNT I

78. The FLSA provides that any employer who violates the provisions of 29 U.S.C. §207 shall be liable to the employees affected in the amount of their unpaid overtime compensation, and in an additional equal amount as liquidated damages. 29 USC §216(b).

79. Defendants' failure to pay Plaintiffs and the FLSA Collective their overtime pay violated the FLSA.

80. At all relevant times, Defendants had, and continue to have, a policy of practice of refusing to pay overtime compensation at the statutory rate of time and a half to Plaintiffs and Collective Action Members for all hours worked in excess of forty (40) hours per workweek, which violated and continues to violate the FLSA, 29 U.S.C. §§201, et seq., including 29 U.S.C. §§207(a)(1) and 215(a).

81. The FLSA and supporting regulations required employers to notify employees of employment law requires employers to notify employment law requirements. 29 C.F.R. §516.4.

82. Defendants willfully failed to notify Plaintiffs and FLSA Collective of the requirements of the employment laws in order to facilitate their exploitation of Plaintiffs' and FLSA Collectives' labor.

83. Defendants knowingly and willfully disregarded the provisions of the FLSA as evidenced by their failure to compensate Plaintiffs and Collective Class Members the statutory overtime rate of time and one half for all hours worked in excess of forty (40) per week when they knew or should have known such was due and that failing to do so would financially injure Plaintiff and Collective Action members.

COUNT IV
[Violation of New York Labor Law—Overtime Pay
Brought on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class]

84. Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class re-allege and incorporate by reference all preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.

85. Pursuant to the New York Wage Theft Prevention Act, an employer who fails to pay proper overtime compensation shall be liable, in addition to the amount of any underpayments, for liquidated damages equal to the total of such under-payments found to be due the employee.

86. Defendants' failure to pay Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class their overtime pay violated the NYLL.

87. Defendants' failure to pay Plaintiffs was not in good faith.

COUNT V
[Violation of New York Labor Law—Spread of Hour Pay
Brought on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class]

88. Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class re-allege and incorporate by reference all preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.

89. The NYLL requires employers to pay an extra hour's pay for every day that an employee works an interval in excess of ten hours pursuant to NYLL §§190, et seq., and §§650, et seq., and New York State Department of Labor regulations §146-1.6.

90. Defendants' failure to pay Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class spread-of-hours pay was not in good faith.

COUNT VI
